KOBE.

The death of Mr. John Marshall, which occurred on the afternoon of the 7th August. will be keenly felt throughout the wide circle of Chinese Imperial Loan of 1884 B-6 per cent friends he had made during his long connection with the Fer East. More especially will this be the case here in Kobe, where Mr. Murshall resided for the past seventeen years, and was intimately associated both officially and privately with the progress of the place. The docessed gentleman, who had been in failing health for some time past, bore the sufferings of a painful malady with patient resignation, and exhibited even in his last days the consideration and kindly sympathy for others that made him when in health and strength such a general favourite. The esteem felt by the community for Mr. Marshall was well evidenced by the lage number of residents who assembled to pay the last tribute to his memory. Rarely indeed have so many persons in Kobe been brought together with a similar object, the funeral cortège being rendered unusually noticeable by the presence of Mr. Utsami (Governor of Hyogo Ken), a number of the local officials. and an escort of constables. This addition to the procession was due to the fact that the deceased gentleman had been engaged in the Government service, and is another example of the thoughtful courtesy so characteristic of the Japanese authorities.—Hiogo News.

OLLA PODRIDA.

They are making rapid progress in Mandalay, and at a public meeting of the inhabitants it was decided to memorialize Government to grant a Municipality to control the affairs of Theebaw's late capital.

His Excellency the Viceroy of India has made a present of a handsome gold watch and chain to a Babu in the Persian Branch of the Foreign Office, in recognition of his services in instructing his Excellency in the Persian language. The gift was accompanied with a letter, cordially acknowledging the Babu's services.

It has been decided that the office of Coroner in Madras is to be abolished, and the duties performed by the police commissioners, a special divisional station-house officer being appointed in each of the eight town divisions of the town to conduct inquests of an ordinary nature. The sotual saving to be effected will only come to Rs. 5,800 per annum.

Dr. Charcot, the famous hypnotiser, has recently had a chance of examining immediately after decapitation one of the four per cent. of French murderers who get executed. Thanks to the assistance of the police, his examination commenced two seconds after the knife of the guillotime had fallen; and the head even then had ceased to give any sign of life, though muscular movement continued in the neighbourhood of the jaw until the sixth secon !. But the beatings of the heart, caused by the influx of blood, actually continued for sixty minutes. The conclusion finally arrived at was that the death of the guillotined man had not been caused by asphyxia. The violent irritation of the nerves of the neck. it was decided, had reacted upon the heart, and death followed the shock.

A capital story about "She," which is averred to be fact, is going the rounds. A certain gentleman near Windsor bad vainly ordered that popular work. The stall-keeper was run out of his stock although he had thirteen copies in circulation. His customer at last desired him to telegraph to his house, some miles in the country, when one should come in. In a few days a telegram to the following purport was received at his house in his absence, and read by his wife: "She has arrived and waits your instructions." When he returned, he was confronted by his wife, to whom he had only recently been married, with the telegram in her hand and storm in her face. "Well, darling," greeted the husband." "Don't darling me, you perfidious wretch!" was the answer "Look at this!" The situation happily admitted of explanation.

A FAITHFUL SENTRY.

The following story has a queer ring about it (says a correspondent), but I hope it is true. It appears that on a certain night a gallant major and a bold lieutenant were absent from the camp, and, being on their return challenged by the sentry, endesvoured to conceal their ignorance of the countersign by remarking, in an off-handed style. "That's all right, my man; Major Bombastes and Lieutenant Furioso." really ill, seriously at his age. The doctors. of course, came every day, sometimes twice or more, and they prescribed as usual. Any one who has been ill for any length of time, and has been attended in the ordinary way once or twice a day by one doctor, will know what various inclicines are prescribed, and changed again and again under each phase of the disease, and he would, I believe, be astonished to see all the medicines be bad drank during his illness. Any one may then conceive what a quantity was likely to be ordered and what charges were likely to be rung by a beyy of doctors with such a precious personage as a king for a patient. As any bottle or powder was brought his Majesty said, " Put it in the cupboard." Not one drop was touched. Starving and patience were the only remedies resorted to. At last his Majesty got his good turn and bogan to feel be could eat again with a relieb, and by degrees nature flung off the disorder, whatever it was, which had run its course. His Majesty was up and dressed early and at business. "Get all these bottles powders and pill boxes out of the capboards," he said, "and range them in a row round the room." It was a very small room and they almost made a circle round the walls. The doctors came in smirking and smiling and congratulated the King upon being up sgain and looking so well. "Yes, doctors," anid his Majesty, "thank God it is so. But look there-count it up. Don't you think heen dead long ago ?"-Court and Times of King Ernest of Hanover.
